

Battle of the Balloons:

The guests should be divided into groups. Black and orange colored balloons should be tied to each player's ankles. On the word "go" each team should try and burst the balloons of the other team. As each person's balloon is burst, he/she withdraws from the game. The team that has the last balloon left is declared the winner. Yes, it sounds childish, but most adults find it great fun just because of that. In fact, it can be a riot.